C. F. Clay Jr. Accidently killed.

Mr. C F. Clay, Jr., the youngest son of Mrs. Mary B. Clay, was accidentally shot and skilled late Tuesday afternoon by his own hands. The circumstances of the sad occurrence is given to us by G. W. Brabmle, who was with Mr. Clay at the time, viz:

"Mr. Clay and myself were going to "In addition to the annual fair held Escondida in a break-cart. We met on at Paris being one of the very best the pike near Escondida, John Fowler, Frank Bedford and James Woodford who were on horseback and who had been dove hunting. The hunters had their guns across their saddles in front of them, and Mr. Woodford's horse being the closest to our cart, Mr. Clay, a playful manner grabbed Mr. load entering Mr. Clay's right lung and heart. He nearly pulled Mr. Wood-ford from his horse."

in falling Mr. Clay pulled Mr. Bramroner's jury verifies the above re-

It was purely accidental and no blame whatever can be placed on Mr. Woodord. The young men were couisns and very fond of each other, and through own playfulness alone lies the cause f his death.

Mr. Clay is survived by his mother, one sister, Mrs. Thos. Buckner. The funeral services were held at the grave in the Paris cemetery yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, conducted by Elder Carey E. Morgan. The pall-bearers were: James B.

Sensational Suicide.

Everett White, formerly of Farview, Mason county, suicided at the home of Miss Kittie McDowell, near Mt. Olivet, Monday night by taking morphine. He is siad to have formed a strong attachment for the young lady when she was at Fairview ceaching school; on her return to her home he followed and was employed as a hand on the farm. Monday he and Miss McDowell drove to Mt. Olivet together. It seems during the day he began drinking, and when he started to drive home in the afternoon the horse did not act to suit him. He jumped from the buggy and knocked the horse down with the butt of the whip. Miss McDowell then sprang from the buggy, took the whip away from him and gave him several lashes about the shoulders. She declined to drive home with him. He went to a soda fountain, and drank a quantity of morphine with his soda. White died about 11 o'clock that night.

Kentucky Sunday School Association.

The Forty-third Annual Convention of the Kentucky Sunday School Association will be held at Newport, Ky., October 8-11 1908. Taking up the wave of interest and enthusiasm generated by the great International Convention in June,, the State Association is planning the greatest Convention in its history. Fully one thousand delegates are expected. A huge tent that will seat three thousand is being erected for the sessions of this great Convention.

Mr. E. O. Excell, the greatest leader and composer of sacred songs in the World, will lead the music, assisted by a great choir, now in training. The music will be a great feature of the Convention. Five speakers of international fame have been secured, besides the very best talent in our own

Dr. Hamill, of Nashville, the great expert teacher trainer; Mrs. Lemoreaux, of Chicago, noted child study expert; Dr. Joseph Clark, General Secretary of Ohio, leading specialist on all lines of Sunday School work; Mr. Hugh Cork, of Chicago, the great apostle and leader in House-to-House Visitation; Mr. L. P. Leavell, of Oxford, Miss., a brilliant piatform speaker; all of these will be present at the convention.

The program is one of the richest intellectual and spiritual feasts ever spread before the people of Kentucky. Every phase of Sunday school work is to be presented by experts.

Cured By Faith.

Mrs. Belle Elam, a young lady about thirty years old, of Mt. Sterling, be-lieves she was cured by faith Monday. She had been suffering from rheumatism for five years, using crutches in walking, with her right arm partially useless. The Saints' preachers, who are conducting a meeting in that county, went to see her and spent some time in prayer and song. Having strong faith in her ultimate cure, she threw away her medicine and grasped the minister with her right hand shouting "Praise Cod I am hand, shouting: "Praise God, I am cured; healed by Him." She then walked around the room without crutches and says she feels no pain. Great crowds have flocked to the home to witness the alleged cure by faith. Mrs. Elam had eaten little for weeks, but now her appetite has re-turned and she eats heartily.

President or Proxy.

Special rates for big advertisements.

Mr. Taft is so much of a Proxy that he does not venture to improve upon his principal, even where improvement is easy and natural.

Theodore Roosevelt will be remembered as a President who preached mightily against certain admitted wrongs, but who did not practibe over Like some other professional exhorters, he has been reckless of Grover Cleveland. Clay, the most capcareless of income and outgo and indifferent to ways and means. Mr. Taft may have statesmanlike ideas bearing on these points but he does not venture to avow them. They are not included in his Proxy.

There is need of real statesmanship at Washington. We are spending a thousand million a year. We are playing a strong hand in the war game. We are involved ten thousand miles away in colonial adventure. We have privilege and prostration. We have plutocracy and depression. We are giving the world a fairly successful imitation of imperialism.

But empires that endure have states. care the state of the country and the welfare of the people. Imperialism must not rest wholly upon extravagance or upon epaulets and ribbons. Money must be had. It must be drawn from the people by taxation. If the people are to pay the taxes they must to appear the imposts must be just and last ten years has been offered him. reasonable and not too severe a burden upon the enterprise and industry. Expenditure must be wise.

Much of our thousand millions of outgo is waste and worse. A spendthrift government makes a spendthrift people. A large percentage of our taxation is laid discriminately for the benefit of the favored interests. A government that shows partiality is in no position to establish comprehensive justice. A nation that wastes is sure to come to want. A government that can do no more than denounce injustice is certain to be a failure.

Since Mr. Taft has refused to discuss the important questions bearing upon business and industrial revival, the reemployment of the idle, the fairer distribution of public burdens and the reduction of the cost of living, it is gratifying to note the fact that Mr. Bryan promises to devote his first speech of the campaign to these problems. The subject has been too long neglected by our public men. We have many talkers but few thinkers.

Of sensation and denunciation we have had more than enough. There is need now of constructive statesmanship, and every essay in that line is entitled to respectful consideration.

If Mr. Taft aims to be president he should have some ideas on these highly important questions, even if they do involve criticism of Mr. Roosevelt, and he should express them fearlessly. If he is content to be a Proxy he will continue as he has begun, with eyes turned toward Oyster Bay and in a posture of adoration.

Empty dinner pails and half full ones is the best the Republicans can boast circumstances.

The Way It Looks.

Henry Watterson thus sizes up the political situation: "This is the year that destiny has picked to beat the Republican party. The very virtues of Taft are against him, as they were against James G. Blaine. Blaine was one of the most captivating of Americans, as is Taft, but he was beaten by a comparatively unknown man, the late ivating of Americans, 40 years before that, was beaten by a comparatively

"Taft has a captivating personality and though Bryan cannot be described as unknown, his time has come. 'Bragg is a good dog, but Holdfast a better.'

Mr. Taft will have to carry the accumulated sins of the Republican party, handicapped by the weight of Sherman, the vice presidential candidate.

"Bryan, on the day of election, will have the united Democracy with him. "The dinner pail is pretty near empty now and it isn't going to fill up before November. All signs and portents now point to a change of parties. My men, economist and financiers who belief is that the single issue made by look after resources and who note with Roosevelt and embodied in Bryan will sweep the country; I mean the working masses agains the lawless rich.

Democrats Determined.

The Democrats will put their best foot forward in the coming campaign to capture the electoral vote of Kentucky for Bryan and Kern and regain three Congressional districts. Kentucky must be redeemed and will be.

The State will be covered more thoroughly than ever before, and speakers who have not been heard for years in the cause of Democracy will take the stump this year and expound the principles of the Denver platform in every hamlet.

F rom every section of the State comes the gratifying report that the harmonizing influences that pervaded the State Convention at Lexington have spread into every county and district, with the result that the party is in the best possible shape and Democrats are eager for the fray.

The people seem determined that this Government shall not remain under control of an oligarchy but shall be returned to the people.

Progress (?) in Panama.

The press of the country has been literally crammed with long articles telling of our"progress in Panama"for the past two weeks. This sudden fever of Panama publicity occasions the thought to arise in some minds that perhaps the Republican Campaign Committee feared the Democrats would attempt to make campaign material out of the more unfortunate and less praiseworthy events that have occurred, and conditions that exist, on the Isthmus, and have, therefore, adopted Vice-President Fairbanks has evi- the policy of causing the publication dently not full confidence in Mr. Roose- of a deluge of lauditory matter, dea!velt, or perhaps it is Mr. Taft, for he ing with the "great results achieved," able facts. A Twentieth Century Accident. Men and women of this day are dying strange deaths. George Washington had no chance of electrocution by a live wire. Lincoln was safe from the dangers of a trolley accident.

The other day in New York four persons were drowned in the North river under an automobile. Better Tips With Overcoats.

"We don't rake in near as much on tips in the summer time," said the waiter in one of the downtown eating places. "I've been noticing that for several years. As near as I can figure it out, it's because men will hand out bigger tips when they're wearing overcoats. When a man can put on a straw hat and walk out he doesn't feel as if it's necessary to hand the waiter much of anything, but when the waiter has to help him on with his coat he takes that slight service as an obligation that must be met. Anyway, I've noticed that the same men will give almost twice as much when they wear overcoats as when they don't."-Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Whitworth refused Napoleon III.'s offer of $50,000 a year for life to go to Paris and manufacture his cannon for the French army, but perhaps our war office was not so faddy then as now.

Some little time ago a new gun for hill fighting was offered and was sent out to India to be tried. It was dragged up steep hills, rushed down rocky defiles, left for a week at a time in mountain torrents-in fact, submitted to all the tests which a veteran officer accustomed to war with the hill tribes could suggest.

The report was satisfactory in every respect, but a war office genius blandly asked if the gun had been dropped down a precipice. It had not.

AWAY BELOW ZERO.

The Awful Cold That Comes With Eighty Degrees of Frost.

It is difficult to form any conception of the degree of cold represented by 80 degrees of frost that at times prevails in certain parts of Russia, Sir Leopold McClintock tells us how in one of his arctic expeditions a sailor was foolish enough to do some outdoor work at precisely this temperature. His hands froze, and when he rushed into the away? They belong to a standing cabin and plunged one of them into a basin of water so cold was the hand that the water was instantly converted into a block of ice.

At 25 degrees, Dr. Kane says, "the mustache and underlip form pendulous beads of dangling ice. Put out your tongue, and it instantly freezes to this icy crusting. Your chin has a trick of freezing to your upper jaw by the happy aid of your beard. My eyes have often been so glued as to show that even a wink was unsafe."

Cow Caught by Her Tall.

Caught by her tail in the cleft of a tree, a cow belonging to Joseph Blake of Geonaland subsisted without food, except the bark of trees, or drink for five weeks. When found she was reduced to a skeleton, but the sight of the man apparently infuriated her, and with a lunge she broke her tail off and charged her would-be rescurer. He sought safety on the top of a woodpile a short distance away and was kept there for three-quarters of an hour. The desire for food finally became uppermost to the animal, and she wandered away in quest of it. She was found later, and is improving under care.-Portland Oregonian.

"The Blood is The Life."

Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgement are effected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. Foul, impure blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It enriches and purifies the blood thereby enring primales blotches eruntions and curing, pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, tetter, or salt-rheum, hives and other manifestations of impure blood. 6 6 6 In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery "has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery "as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure it by inclosing fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. You can't afford to accept any medicine unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, the same being attested as correct under oath. CONSUMPTION'S WARNING

The aid of scientific inventions is not needed to determine whether your lungs are affected. The first symptoms can be readily noted by anyone of average in-

There is no disease known that gives so many plain warnings of its approach as consumption, and no serious disease that can be so quickly reached and checked, if the medicine used is Dr. Boschee's German Syrup, which is made to cure

It is in the early stages that German Syrup should be taken, when warnings are given in the cough that won't quit, the congestion of the bronchial tubes and the gradual weakening of the lungs, accompanied by frequent expectoration.

GBut no matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has already attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble New trial bottles, 25c. Regular size, 75c. At all druggists.

HARD LIFE OF BACHELOR SEAL.

Has Nothing Like So Good a Time as Human Counterpart.

"This skin," said the furrier, "came from a young seal bachelor, a youth ignorant of love and of life." "How do you know?" the lady asked. "By its fineness, its perfection," he replied. "The pile, you will note, is like closecut velvet. Only bachelor sealskins have such a pile. "The bachelor seal," he went on, has a rather sad life. The big bull seals in the seal islands have each a household of 15 or 20 wives, but the young bachelors must herd by themselves. Let one of them attempt to marry, and straightway a bull slays him. Not till he is big enough to fight and conquer a bull-not till he is 14 or 15 years old-can he know the delight of settling down in a home of his

"He is not like the human bachelor, the favorite of the chorus girls, the reveler in all sorts of club luxuries; but he leads a hard, ascetic, celibate life, only in the end, as like as not, to make a lady a very fine coat. All the very fine coats, I repeat, are made from the unhappy bachelor seals."

Few Old Facts.

A historian recalls the fact that in Mr. Lincolns speech to the notification committee at Springfield there were 139 words, and in his former letter of The meat of the ox was then boiled acceptance there were 134 words. In in pots by adult participators and his speech of acceptance to the committee in Washington in 1864 there are 196 words and in his letter of acceptance there are 200 words. But let us remember that there were no type writers in those days, and such a thing as a phonograph had not been dreamed performed at Changamwe, East Afri ca, to bring rain. A house-to-hom visit was made among the natives a self-appointed committee who lected from each hut the sum of to annas. With the total thus collect an ox was purchased. A procession was then formed, in which all the available children took part. After the procession had proceeded around the district for a period of two hours the ox was sacrificed, prayers from given to the children to eat until the whole was consumed. The bones and remaining offal of the carcass were later put in a sack, carefully carried to the sea and thrown into deep water. Circumstantially rain fell for a few hours on the succeeding day.

Hot For Kimball.

[From Richmond Climax.] Every newspaper in Kentucky, owes to Congressman Pres. Kimball, of Lexington, its gratitude and loyal support in his race for re-election. He did the noblest sort of service to produce a reduction of the tariff on wood pulp, the chief material entering into the manufacture of newspaper, and fought the giant paper trusts on the floor of the House in a way that caused his speeches to be copied into the National Democratic Campaign Handbook. A number of Kentucky editors urged all our Congressmen to fight the pulp tariff, but Pres. Kibmall was the only one to score against it. He thus served, not only the press of Kentucky and the Nation, but placed the readers of papers everywhere under obligations to him. May he win by ten thousand and then some.

Chronic Diarrhoea Relieved.

M. Edward E. Henry, with the United States Express Co., Chicago, writes, "Our General Superintendent, Mr. Quick, handed me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy some time ago to check an attack of the old chronic diarrhoea. I have used it since that time and cured many on our trains who have been sick. I am an old soldier who served with Rutherford B. Hayes and William McKinley four years in the 23rd Ohio Regiment, and have no ailment except chronic diarrhoea, which this remedy stops at once." For sale by W. T. Brooks. You need no other guaran-

"Bliggins is constantly repeating the things his children say."

"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne, "and I must say I enjoy hearing them. They are really much more entertaining than any original remarks of which Mr. Bliggins would be capable."

A Faithful Friend.

"I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy since it was first introduced to the public in 1872, and have never found one instance where a cure was not speedily effected by its use. I have been a commercial traveler for eighteen years, and never start out on a trip without this, my faithful friend," says H. S. Nichols, of Oakland, Ind. Ter.

A Purpose of Life.

It is a great thing to have a purpose in life, but one trouble is that so many purposes are not worth while.

Thinks it Saved His Life.

Lester M. Nelson, of Naples, Maine, says in a recent letter: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery many years, for coughs and colds, and I think it saved my life. I have found November 11, 1908. it a reliable remedy for throat and lung complaints, and would no more be without a bottle than I would without food." For nearly forty years New Discovery has stood at the head of throat and lung remedies. As a preventive of pneumonia, and healer of weak lungs it has no equal. He was admitted to the bar in 1875. He became judge advocate on the staff of General McLeer, Second brigade, national guard, in 1890, and shortly afterward became nationally known for his work in breaking up rings within the Democratic party and his action in securing the conviction of John Y. There will not be few and far between, and the Buffalo editor has been with him ever since, through thick and thin, and enjoys the confidence of the Nebraska statesman in an unusual degree. He and Mrs. Mack were entertained at Fairview by Mr. and Mrs. Bryan on their way to Denver, where Mr. Mack was among those who were talked of in connection with the vice presidential nomination, and it is predicted he will occupy an important post under the administration in case of Mr. Bryan's election. Mr. Mack celebrates his arrival at the half century mark this month and next year will celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of the establishment of the Sunday Times in Buffalo. The Daily Times came into the field four years later. Mr. Mack has attended in an official capacity every national convention of his party since that of 1892 and in iate years has wielded no small influence in the party councils.

When William J. Bryan was first nominated for the presidency at Chicago in 1896 he was but thirty-six years old and in the campaign which followed was often called the "boy orator of the Platte." Curing a tad

By W. F. BRYAN.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Homer Sprague.

Being fanciful as well as fashionable, Miss Hovey was a faddist, this to the deep sorrow of Dick Fennister, who barely had time to develop an interest in one pursuit before Florence Hovey was off at a new tangent.

Dick had just learned to handle the diabalo when he was called upon to abandon the illusive spinning reel in order to spend his afternoons amid dim lights and odors of incense while a burly Buddhist proclaimed the tenets of fasting and mortification of the flesh to the end that the soul might be enabled to quit its earthly tenement and soar through realms of space.

And then came Batterly. His advent enabled Dick to resume an intimate connection between soul and body and also permitted him to take Florence to luncheon occasionally until Batterly's artistic notions engulfed Miss Hovey even more completely than the Hindoo religion had done.

Batterly knew the value of what actors call "dressing the part," and there was small danger that any one would ever mistake him for other than what he was. The black velvet coat, the straight brimmed high hat and the peg top trousers above sharply pointed French shoes were all delightfully suggestive of the Latin quarter. Florence discarded shirt waists and went in for soft, clinging gowns designed by Batterly. The phraseology of the studio supplanted the words of affection which Dick Fennister had received despite the reigns of other fads.

Things began to look serious, indeed, for Fennister, and none knew it better than himself. Batterly by his very selfishness was the sort of man to attract women, and Dick Fennister feared that if he sought to exercise his rights as a fiance this would serve only to mark the termination of their engagement and precipitate Florence's serious interest in the artist.

Things went from bad to worse, and there came the day when Dick called to take Florence for a walk only to find that she had gone with Batterly. Later it developed that she had gone to his studio to pose for her portrait and that Mrs. Hovey had accompanied them as, chaperon, but this did not lighten the situation much.

Thereafter Batterly called daily to escort his sitter to the studio, and with mournful interest Dick watched the trio pass the club window.

Then there came a day when the light of resolve flashed into his eyes, and with positive cheerfulness he turned from the spectacle. Harry Fulton, passing him in the hall, was scandalized to surprise him performing a dance indicative of solemn joy.

"Your own idea?" he asked when Dick saw him and had subsided. "A poor thing," admitted Dick, "but of the joy that rises within me." "It's all right then," was the sarcastic retort. "It seemed rather the outward indication of an inward colic." He passed on, and Dick headed for the coat room. Ten minutes later he quitted the club.

Mrs. Hovey rather enjoyed the afternoon promenades down the avenue. Batterly's eccentricities, aided by real cleverness with the brush, had made him something of a social lion, and she was proud to have him in leash. She enjoyed the attention which the artist attracted, but this afternoon there was a new expression on the face of those whom they met.

In spite of the occasional "Very clever!" and "How original!" which fell from the lips of passersby there was a flash of levity in the eyes of nearly all. Both Mrs. Hovey and Florence anxiously, if secretly, felt various portions of their dress to see if some disarrangement of their toilets had aroused attention.

But several furtive touches assured them that all was well, and so they gave more attention to Batterly, who reveled in this afternoon parade down the fashionable thoroughfare with the aristocratic matron and her remarkably handsome daughter at his side. He had scorned the suggestion of a carriage, declaring that the walk cleared his brain and enabled him to do his best work.

"This picture shall be my masterpiece," he declared, "if only I am able to do justice to the subject. See! Every one stares at the beauty I am struggling to reproduce upon canvas. It shall make me famous."

"You are already that," reminded Mrs. Hovey. "You will make Florence famous instead." "No; she is already that," replied the artist. "It needs none to tell that she is the observed of all observers. To day I notice it as never before."

"Do you?" asked Mrs. Hovey uneaslly. "It does seem to me that we are attracting unusual attention."

"It is the gown," said Batterly complacently. "It is a triumph. It is a joy to see one's ideals so fittingly realized." He glanced with frank pride at the somewhat conspicuous costume he had designed for Florence and which she was wearing upon the street for the first time. He was inordinately vain, and even the indirect flattery of curious glances was as incense to his soul. They had almost reached the side street on which Batterly had his studio in an abardoned stable whose rough and dilapidated exterior served only to heighten the effect of the luxurlous furnishings within. Suddenly pare to jump .- Yonkers Statesman.

Mrs. Hovey gasped and clutched the

Were it not for the clutch and the feel of bone and muscle beneath she could have sworn that Batterly was advancing toward them with his pompous deliberate stride. Batterly, too, saw the vision and stared.

"It would seem a double," he said. "Tell me, do you see one who looks

"Two-three," said Mrs. Hovey in gasps, while her eyes filled with fear. "It cannot be a delusion, since we both see it," said Batterly in relieved tones. "What can it be?"

"There's another!" almost screamed Mrs. Hovey as a third figure came into view. "What can it mean?"

The question was quickly answered, for the first of the false artists was now abreast of them, and, glancing over her shoulder, Mrs. Hovey faced a new surprise. On the black velvet coat was neatly lettered: "Belding, the Artist. Best Photos $3 Per Dozen."

"It is an advertisement," she gasped. "and-and"- "The people think Mr. Batterly is one of them," said Florence indignantly. "Oh, there's Dick! He'll take us home. We need not trouble Mr. Batterly."

Fennister, perceiving that he was recognized, burried forward. Florence regarded with approval his correct afternoon dress and turned from the artist in disgust as a sixth double filed slowly past.

"Please take us home, Dick," she said faintly. "It seems that we have been assisting in advertising some cheap photographer."

"Jolly good makeup," said Dick as be stepped between the two women, thereby displacing the artist. "Mr. Batterly saved them the trouble of thinking up an idea for a costume. Let's drop in here and have an ice," he added as they reached a fashionable restaurant.

'Perhaps your mother would like"-"Tea," declared the crimson faced woman. "I was never so mortified in my life, Dick. I wish you'd harry up and marry Florence if only to cure her of her silly habit of fads."

"With all my heart to the first part!" cried Dick as his glance sought the

And then Fennister offered up a prayer that it might never be discovered who had planned the advertisement.

Hypercriticism of Cooks.

In a Sixth avenue employment agency ten cooks out of a job waited one afternoon recently for something to turn up. Presently a well dressed woman who was short of servants applied at the desk for the desired help The manager referred her to the ten cooks. The woman interviewed each of them in turn, with unsatisfactory

"Not one of them," she explained to the manager of the agency, "likes to eat the things that we like."

"But what difference does that make?" asked the manager. "They are no doubt good cooks for all that."

"Possibly, but they wouldn't suit me," said the woman decidedly. "My my own. It is the outward indication family have very pronounced tastes in regard to cookery, and my experience has taught me that only a cook who likes the same dishes can prepare them satisfactorily. It stands to reason that any cook who likes certain dishes will have better luck with them than one who doesn't like them, consequently I'll do the work myself until I find a girl whose taste agrees with ours."-New York Press.

Would Excuse Her.

"The butler in a Scotch family occupies a privileged and unique position," said a Scot to some friends who were discussing the servant problem. "He sometimes assumes a freedom of speech that to Americans would be an impertinence, but to those that know him this is only one of the many evidences of his interest in the family welfare.

"A young lady from New York was the guest at a house where a butler of that sort reigns. She submitted to his patronage with much amusement. One day there were unexpected and important guests for dinner, a fact that caused the butler a little while before the meal was served to waylay the American girl in the hall.

"'I'm fearin' there 'll no be enough soup,' he explained, 'so when it's offered ye maun decline it, lass.' "Why, was the laughing response of the girl, 'it wouldn't be polite of me to decline soup.' "'Not precisely,' said the butler, with a benignant smile, 'but they'll a' make excuse for 'ye, thinkin' ye ken nae bet-

Wars That Were Caused by Women. I do not think that any of you are ignorant, my friends, that the greatest wars have taken place on account of women-the Trojan war on account of Helen, the plague which took place in it was on account of Chryseis and the war called the sacred war on account of Theano. This war lasted ten years. The Crissaean war, which also lasted ten years, was excited on this account

Kentucky's New Capitol.

Kentucky's new Capitol is to be finished by the new Capitol Commission instead of by the General Supply and Construction Company, which has had the contract for the erection of the building, and work will begin today under the direction of C. M. Fleenor, superintendent of the building, on behalf of the State. The construction company has been instructed to stay out of the building, has been threatened with the arrest of the workmen if they do not stay away and cease their efforts to work on the building. "The trouble arose over the refusal of work in accordance with the intsructhe construction company to do certain tion of the commission. There were many small details connected with the completion of the building, and especially the dome, that were not being completed in the manner prescribed by the Capitol Commission. At a meeting several days ago the architect was directed to take the work out of the hands of the construction company, and at a meeting of the Commission price obtained being about 5 cents. Wednesday Mr. Fleenor was authorized to go ahead and complete the work. He has employed the necessary men and will rush the work. It will cost between $10,000 and $12,000.

State Treasury Depleted.

The State Treasury has less money now than it had even two months ago, year old, first on Rosa King. in spite of the holding up of many warrants and the conservation of the finances of the State to the greatest possible degree. One thing that depleted the treasury was the call-be taken to the State Fair at Louising by the State University of the ville. National Government. The university wanted the money, which had been in the bank at Frankfort to the State's credit for several weeks, and it was paid over. Capt. E. Farley, State Treasurer, believes that he will have the State on its financial feet in a short time.
